POSTPONE WET AND DRY MEASURE

County Option and Five-Mile Zone Bills Laid Over for Two Weeks

HENNEBRY HOLDS HIS SEAT

Coupe Sprung at Last Minute, Catches Anti-Saloon Men Off Guard, Passes by Vote of 80 to 70

By a vote of8 0 to 70 ,the House late Wednesday postponed action for two weeks on the twelve "wet" and "dry" bills, which were on the calendar as a special order for the day.

In this sudden and sensational action is seen the defeat of all "dry" legislation in the assembly. Even should the bills be placed on their passage two weeks from today, the vote Wednesday is taken as an indication of what the final result will be.

While it is possible for the "dry" forces to gather in two or three more votes, it is not probable that they can secure the neccssary seventy-seven in the House to put their bills over.

The postponement program was sprung at the last moment and caught the "dry" leaders off their guard. The disposition of the Hennebry-Boardman contest when the case was recommended to the elections committee, paved the way for the coup so successfully engineered by the "wet" leaders.

By a vote of 83 to 65 the Boardman-Hennebry case was sent back to the committee with instruction to count all the ballots in the Forty-First district. Boardman is "dry" and Hennebry "wet." This was the first test vote of the day, and when the "wets" succeeded in retaining Hennebrey in his seat to vote on the "wet" and "dry" bills that were to have come up later in the day the immediately set about making preparation to kill all the "dry" bills.

House leaders counseled against the slaughter of the temperance measures at this time, and is was then that the plan was evolved for postponed action for two weeks.

In anticipation of the final vote on these measures, hundreds of advocates of the "dry" bills and opponents of the measure packed the galleries,

Former Speaker Shurtleff addressed the chair as soon as the late session opened and announced that he would offer a motion to postpone consideration for two weeks of the bills which were on the calendar as a special order.

He denounced the Senate members for their refusual thus far to take up the county option bill. He called attention to the fact that the county option measure had been strangled by the Senate license committee by sending it to a subcommittee.

Representative Wilson of Quincy, leader of the "dry" forces, at once entered a vigorous objection to the postponement proposition, declaring it was merely a ruse by which the opposition sought to kill the "dry" legislation without being forced to go on record.

Representative Zolla, tne Bull Moose floor leader, whose name comes last on roll, arose to explain his vote when his name was called. The "wet" men booed him and groaned until he was humiliated. He shouted back to them that he had intended to vote for a postponement but since they did not see fit to accord him courteous treatment he would vote against postponement.

The majority report of the election committee, recommending the ousting of Hennebry and the seating of Boardman was submitted to the House at the morning session by Chairman Watson of the committee.

Representative Burns of Chicago, one of the "wet" leaders, presented a minority report, sending the whole case back to the committee, and this latter prevailed after a hot debate, in which the Bull Moosers lambasted the Democrats for their action.

MARRIED AT INDIANAPOLIS

Mildred Blunt and Dr. Daniel Wood Married at Home of Cousin

This (Thursday) afternoon at the home of the groom's cousin at Indianapolis, Mildred Blunt of Antioch became the bride of Dr. Daniel Wood of Chicago.

The wedding was a very quiet affair with only the nearest relatives of the contracting parties in attendance. The bride was attired in a gown of blue brocaded silk meter and the bridal couple was unattended. After the ceremony and congratulation were ouer the happy couple left for an auto tour of about three months that will include most of the states in the east and south.

The bride is well known in Antioch having made her home here for the past number of years and has for the past few years ranked with the town's most enterprising business people.

The groom who is proprietor of many dental parlors in Chicago, Cinncinnati, Indianapolis and other places is not extensively acquainted in our village, but through his visits here has made many friends in our midst and all join with the News in wishing the happy couple the best that life affords. At the conclusion of their trip Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their home in Chicago for the winter.

NO NEW COURT HOUSE

Some Changes in Partitions May be Made but no New Building

The building committee of the Lake County Board of Supervisors met in special session at Waukegan ,Tuesday. Several months ago it was reported that the supervisors intended to lay plans in 1913 for the erection of a new court house at Waukegan.

A new court house was not even mentioned at the meeting of the building committee Tuesday afternoon.

The county officers are crowded for room, and every piece of available space is now in use. The building committee will make several change in partitions during the year, but no improvements of an extensive nature are planned for the year.

The purchasing committee met in regular session Tuesday. The chairman of the committee announced that he would persue the policy in 1912 of forcing all persons, firms or corporatious, who bid on county work, to file a written bid with the board. In the past years an oral bid was accepted by one committee.

The written bids will be tabulated, and will be made a part of the records of the committee. A big saving will surely be made by this plan, it is believed.

WILMOT DEFEATS ANTIOCH SUNDAY BY SCORE OF 7 TO 1

The ball game Sunday between Antioch and Wilmot was about as snapy and exciting as had been predicted and ended in a decided victory for the visiting team.

From the first Antioch was in poor form, while the Wilmot boys showed a thorough organization and much practice. However, as this is only the second game that the Antioch chaps have indulged in, they were very much satisfied that they were able to keep as heafty a team as Wilmot down to a score of seven.

In the first inning neither side made a score, in the second Wilmot scored 3 and Antioch 1, Teckert by fleetness of foot saving the home team from being "skunked." In the third inning the score stood 4 to 1; in the fourth 6 to 1; in the fifth and sixth neither side scored; in the seventh Wilmot gained 1; in the eighth and ninth again neither side scored and the game ended in a score of 7 to 1 in favor of Wilmot.

The proceeds of the afternoon amounted to $18.15. The expenses amounted to $5 the balance of $13.15 will be used in purchasing suits and other necessary paraphernalia.

To Stop Cramp in the Leg.

To those who suffer from cramp in the leg at night, the following may be useful: When the cramp comes on take a good long string—a long garter will do—wind it round the leg over the place that is affected, and take the end in each hand and give it a sharp pull—one that will cause a little pain. Instantly the cramp will depart, and the sufferer can return to bed assured it will not come on again that night.—Health.

ASSESSOR WILL HUNT FOR DIAMONDS

Assessor Threatens to Search Millionaire's Homes in Lake Forest

HEIRESSES MUST PAY, TOO

Thomas Appleton Says but Few Listed Automobiles, and Those at Ridiculously Low Sums

Recently The News told how it was probable that Thomas Appleton, the new assessor for Shields township, who had been opposed by the rich residents every time he ran for any office, would likely make a vigorous campaign to get these rich men's assessments properly scheduled this year, his first year as assessor. Since then other papers have taken up Mr. Appleton's prospective movements in detail, the latest appearing in a Chicago Sunday paper as follows:

"If the Lake Forest millionaires fail to file satisfactory schedules of their personal property before June 2nd I will make a search of their palatial homes and will demand that they produce their diamonds, silver and gold plate and stocks and bonds to be listed for tax assessments in Lake county. I will do everything in my power to discover the taxable property I know they are concealing. The fortunes of great heiresses should not escape taxation."

In these words Assessor Thomas Appleton of Shields township, in which Lake Forest is located, made known Saturday night his determination to force the wealthy residents of that ultra-fashionable suburb to pay their just share of taxes into the treasury of Lake county.

"I suspect that Lake Forest's so-called Chicago colony of millionaires dodge a great deal of their taxes," said Assessor Appleton. "Many of them have refused to file schedules with us, claiming that they pay taxes in Chicago. It is because I wish to know whether they really pay in Chicago that I decided to send a list of their names to Secretary Koraleski of the Cook County Board of Assessors. If I find they are not assessed at all, or only at an unreasonably small figure, in Cook county I will estimate their wealth and then penalize them 50 per cent, as the revenue law authorizes me to do."

"Only a few automobiles are listed, and they run from $300 to $500, though most of the machines are worth from $4,500 to $7,000," said Assessor Appleton "And in spite of the extravagant displays of jewelry at the affairs of society, the schedules fail to indicate that one valuable gem is owned in Lake Forest."

Rich Seldom Extravagant.

Extravagance, oddly enough, is not a habit of the rich so much as it is of the poor.

The Midases and Croesuses in every neighborhood are pretty careful of the dimes. They have a thrifty habit of squeezing a dollar till the eagle screams—and not so much is it through miserliness as through the habit of conserving, saving.

With wealth comes the instinct to save.

Millionaires use the street cars, or probably walk. People with slender purses loll about in taxicabs. Only the very rich and the very poor can afford to dress badly, is the saying. Who are the people who dine with such reckless extravagance after the theater in the cities? Among them are there many millionaires?

Not many. They are more likely to be having crackers and milk at home.

When He Feels It.

Another one of these ways in which the pestered can shut up the pestering:

"Do you suffer with a cold in the head?" asked the kindly butter-in of the sufferer on the street car.

"Invariably, when I have one," growled the victim. And thereby escaped another remedy.

ROAD HOG IS FINED IN COURT

Mat Wickersham of Aptakeisic Pays Fine of $20 for "Hogging" Road

GEO. QUENTIN COMPLAINS

Incident Occurs Near Aptakeisic Friday and Case Was Heard in the Justice Court in Waukegan

The first successful prosecution under the state automobile law in Lake county embodying the point of right of way of an auto seeking to pass a team going in the same direction, developed in Justice Mason's court, Waukegan on Friday of last week when George Quentin, of Libertyville, made complaint against Matt Wickersham an Aptakisic farmer who, according to the evidence, had refused to pull out to give Quentin a chance to get past him.

The occurrence took place on May 5, just south of Aptakisic. Quentin, in his evidence said that he was driving behind Wickersham and that he gave him a signal asking him to pull out a little and give him the chance, a provision which the state law says must be done. Quentin claimed Wickersham not only refused to let him pass and held him behind for about two miles, but when he finally did manage to reach a point in the road where it was wide enough for him to pass and he pulled out to get by, Wickersham used objectionable language to him, declaring at the same time that he did not have to give him any of the road if he did not wish to.

The farmer's attitude so angered Mr. Quentin that he went to Waukegan where he swore out a warrant, charging violation of the state law in this regard.

The hearing developed evidence to the above effect and the justice fined the defendent $10 and costs and Wickersham in all was assessed $20.60, which he paid rather than fight the case longer.

The outcome of the case, decided solely upon the evidence that Wickersham did not give the autoists a chance to get passed by pulling to one side a trifle should serve as a warning to others in the county and remind them that an auto driver under the law has the right to ask for and receive the courstesy which this clause of the state wide law provides. This is the first case of the kind to come up but it is a known fact that hundreds of autoists have been impelled many times to start similar actions when they have been treated in the manner of Mr. Quentin. Of course there are many "hog" autoist, as well as persons driving teams, but the driver of the latter has the same recourse in case the autoist treats him similarly.

INSURGENTR OF WOODCRAFT ELECT OFFICERS

Embodying a platform of combined principles and charges against members of the present Modern Woodmen head camp, the convention of insurgents, after electing officers, adjourned their national meeting at Springfield last week.

The convention adopted resolutions demanding the restoration of representative government in the order; demanding the removal of the present head officers and the investigation of all of their financial transactions and an investion of the sanitarium in Colorado; for the adoption of by-laws limiting the terms of officers to two years; the repeal of the new rates; demanding a referendum vote before any change in rates is made, demanding the repeal of the "Mobile law" in the states in which it is in force; demanding the recovery of all moneys illegally disbursed; prohibition of special dispensations; rigid economy under business methods; demanding the reorganization of the deputy system so that deputies can be prohibited from sitting as delegates in county, city, state or head camps; the discharge of all useless employes and demanding the complete revision of all by-laws.

INJURED AT A FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mcalure, of Russell Injured at Waukegan

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClure of Russell sustained painful injuries on Thursday afternoon of last week on Marion street in Waukegan, while leaving the cemetery after having attended the funeral of a relative, John McClure of Gurnee. The accident happened when the team of horses hitched to the surrey in which they were riding, became frightened when a portion of the harness broke. Geo. McCullough was driving the team at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure were sitting in the rear seat. When the horses began to piroquette about Mr .McClure stood up to see what was the trouble. As he did so the horses sprang forward and McClure was hurled backward from the surrey to the pavement.

Panic stricken, his wife sought to leap from the rig but in the attempt her coat caught on some obstruction and she fell head foremost to the pavement, inflicting several gashes on her face and head. It was found that Mr. McClure had sustained merely a badly sprained wrist.

Mrs. McClure was lifted back into the carriage and taken to a physician where it was found necessary to take several stitches. The horses did not try to run away otherwise Mrs. McClure might have been dragged some distance and injured quite severely. Taken as a whole the termination of the accident is considered quite fortunate.

Mr. and Mrs. McCullough both kept their seats during the time the horses were prancing about and neither of them were hurt.

ADA BUTRICK A BRIED

Is Married to Fred W. Fliermans of Chicago Last Week

On Thursday evening of last week, May 15, at 8 o'clock occurred a quiet wedding at the home of the groom's sister in Chicago, when Mr. Fred W. Fliermans of Chicago, and Miss Ada V. Butrick of Antioch were united in marriage, Rev. Aiken of Chicago Lawn officiating. Just the immediate relatives of the bride and groom witnessed the ceremony.

At precisely at 8 o'clock the bride and groom entered the parlor to the strains of LoHengreen's wedding march, attended by the groom's sister, Mrs. Ben .Eisele, as bride's maid and Mr. Ben Eisele as best man.

The bride was attired in white silk net, the bride's maid in heliotrope silk. The groom and best man wore the conventional black. After congratulations the guests were ushered to the dining room where a dainty luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fliermans will make their future home in Chicago and will be at home to their friends after June 1, at 309-106 Place.

The best wishes of their friends go with them to their new home.

The Woman of It.

"Then you refuse me?" he asked dramatically.

"I do, John," answered the maiden.

"Is it because I have no fortune?"

"Not at all."

"Is it my looks?"

"Ye-e-e-s. I have just been reading that people who marry grow to look like each other, and although I love you, John, I—I—I really don't think I could stand to look like you."

"You silly girl," he exclaimed. "Maybe it will be I who will grow to look like you."

"Oh, John," she said joyously, "I never thought of that. I'm sure it would be great for us to look like each other, wouldn't it? Won't you please forgive me?

Oldtime Perfumes.

Perfumes were in common use in the ancient world, but views have changed as to the pleasantness of various odors. The smell of aloes is now considered disagreeable by the majority of people, but in the old days aloes, both as solid extract and as wood, formed a staple perfume or aromatic. Saffron, moreover, was a most popular perfume with the Romans, and was much in favor in England until about the sixteenth century.

TUBERCULIN TEST UP AGAIN

Local Delegates to Take Part in Battle Against Measure Being Revived at Capital

FARMERS ALL INTERESTED

Claim Test is Worthless, and that "Reaction" Can be Produced by Almost Any Other Injection

A large delegation from the milk producers' association, the organization of dairymen in the counties immediately around Chicago went to Springfield on Wednesday night to appear before a committee of the legislature which is considering the revival of the tuberculosis test by means of a bill which had been introduced for that purpose, by Frank Baumgartner, Joliet, a member of the executive committee of the association will go with the party, and all the other counties will be liberally represented.

Two years ago the association fought the tuberculosis test and gained the victory, the senate committee indefinitely postponing the bill which it had under consideration. As a consequence the milk producers believe that they will have similar good fortune this time, especially as they claim to have stronger arguments against the measure now than they had on the former occasion.

It is claimed by the advocates of the the tuberculosis test that it is needed to prevent the contamination of the milk supply of the great city and the transmission of tuberculosis germs to members of the human family. The opponents of the measure present a two-fold defense to this position.

First they declare that the so-called test is worthless and that the vaunted reaction which is claimed to prove the existence of the disease in the animal, can be procured by almost any other injection.

Frank Baumgartner, who is one of the pronounced opponents of the tuberculin theory, said that without doubt more than half of the cows condemned through this means as diseased are as healthy as any of the animals which do not show reaction under the test. He also said that an animal may fail to respond two or three times under the so-called test and react the third time, showing that the test is not in any degree a test. It is on his theory that the dairymen take their stand against the tuberculin test.

PRESENT PLAN FOR COUNTY DOCTOR MEETS OBJECTIONS

A battle royal is expected in June when the Board of Supervisors convene to appoint a county doctor.

Dr Brown is a candidate for re-appointment as the county physician. If the Board will vote to pay the Jane McAlister Hospital Association $2,000 a year, a number of Waukegan physicians claim they will take care of Waukegan's poor free of cost to the county.

The Waukegan doctors will insist that the Supervisors vote $1,000 per annum to pay doctors living outside of Waukegan who care for the county poor.

One member of the Board says that Dr. Brown will be re-elected and that both propositions that the Medical Society will submit will be turned down.

Dr. Brown has proved a most efficient employe of the county. By employing him, we reduced the cost of caring for the poor at least fifty per cent. The Waukegan doctors are jealous and they are endeavoring to "get" Brown. That's all that's troubling them, said one Supervisor who is not a resident of Waukegan.

JAPAN GETS REPLY

BRYAN DELIVERS NOTE TO CHINDA AS ANTI-ALIEN BILL IS SIGNED.

CALIFORNIA ACT IS UPHELD

Text Is Not Disclosed But Letter Is Said to Declare Law Does Not Contravene Any Rights.

Washington, May 21.—The reply of the United States to the Japanese protest against the enactment of the California alien land law was handed to Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, by Secretary of State Bryan Monday. At the same time a copy of the reply was cabled to Tokio for personal presentation to the mikado's government by the American charge d'affaires.

Owing to the fact that Japan flatly refused to make public the text of her original protest against the enforcement of the bill, government officials here said that the United States could not publish the text of the American reply, which is couched in terms which correspond to the protest in such a manner that the latter could be deduced from the former. tI is understood, however, that the Bryan reply is every bit as frank as was the protest and that it outlines the United States position in no uncertain terms.

Japan is informed that this government is bound by the action of the California legislature and governor, but that the administration has done and will continue to do everything in its power to prevent the least breach in the friendly relations between the two governments. A new treaty is hinted at in the reply and it is further stated that the enforcement of the law can probably be deferred until after negotiations for this new treaty are well under way.

This is the last step of this government with respect to the Japanese situation. The next move will come from Tokio, and government officials said that it could not forecast with any degree of certainty, but Governor Johnson's action in signing the bill would undoubtedly bring the situation to a crisis.

President Wilson clearly indicated to callers that he believes the racial pride of the Japanese to be at the bottom of the whole matter—that the feeling is that Americans do not consider the Orientals on the same level with themselves has produced a hot resentment in Japan, which has found an outlet in the present situation.

The president also believes that the Portsmouth conference carried on under former President Roosevelt, has a great deal to do with the present unrest, because the Japanese feel that they did not get all that was coming to them by the terms of the conference.

Sacramento, Cal., May 21.—Gov. Hiram W. Johnson Monday signed the alien land bill, against which Japan protests and which the California legislature passed by an overwhelming majority over the remonstrances of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. The act will go into effect August 10, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature, May 12.

Governor Johnson, in signing the bill, gave out the following statement:

"I repeat what I have before said: That California for the first time in its history has an alien law. Any man who wishes another kind of a law may consistently invoke the initiative. No man who really wishes an anti-alien law will sign a referendum as to this law. If another law is sought it may be presented by means of the initiative, and in the meantime the present law will be in operation. To tie up the present law means no law until November, 1914."

MRS. LONGSTREET IN PROTEST

Widow of Famous Southern General Resents Removal as Postmistress at Gainesville, Ga.

Washington, May 21.—Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet of Gainesville, Ga., who has been replaced as postmistress there by an appointee of President Wilson, appeared before the subcommittee of the senate post office and post roads committee here Monday to protest against her removal from office. She said that she was the victim of the Georgia Railway & Power company of Georgia, which she fought, and of Democratic political spoilsmen. She was appointed by President Roosevelt whom she called "the first statesman of the land."

CAUSE WAR SCARES

BRYAN LAYS BLAME ON BATTLESHIP BUILDING AND ARMOR PLATE CONCERNS.

KRUPP WORKS ARE CITED

Secretary in Speech at Peace Meeting Asserts Attempt Is Made to Increase Dividends by Inciting Fear of Hostilities.

Washington, May 20.—In an address at a meeting of the Washington Peace society Sunday held to celebrate the fourteenth anniversary of The Hague Peace tribunal, Secretary Bryan created a stir by attacking the battleship building and Armor plate companies.

He said that they were responsible for many war scares just for the sake of increasing their dividends. He referred to the recent charge by a member of the German Reichstag that the Krupp works bought space in German and French papers and hinted that similar conditions exist in this country.

"War is never the outcome of logic, but always the result of sentiment," said Mr. Bryan.

The secretary's address was received with wild demonstration and at the request of Representative Bartholdt a rising vote of thanks was given him. After the meeting the crowds surged into the streets before Mr. Bryan had a chance to leave, and he was forced to shake hands for thirty minutes.

"We understand as we grow in intelligence, what subsidized patriotism means; what it means for people to hide behind the plea of patriotism as they attempt to advance their own pecuniary interests. The world is learning that back of much of the furore for war, back of much of the string of the passions of the people is the interests in armor plate and in battleships on the part of corporations whose business it is to build these battleships and to make this armor plate. It has even been found that men in one country will spend the money to stir up in another country a feeling against their own country. If you can think of a baser use of money than that you will have an inventive genius of which you may be proud. Is there any baser money than that of money used to stir up feeling against one's own country in order to coin that feeling into larger dividends and more business?

"Not only that, but I believe that with a greater intelligence, people will begin to discriminate between patriotic newspapers and newspapers which are more interested in big headlines and senational news than in the spread of truth.

ANHUT GUILTY OF BRIBERY

Jury Decides That Lawyer Offered $25,000 to Free Harry K. Thaw From Insane Asylum.

New York, May 20.—John Nicholson Anhut, lawyer, was Saturday found guilty of offering a $25,000 bribe to Dr. John W. Russell, superintendent of the Matteawan asylum at the time, for the freedom of Harry K. Thaw.

Anhut displayed calmness, when the verdict was brought in. He is twenty-nine years old and was born in Michigan, where he was once a senator. The maximum penalty in his case under the law is ten years in prison and a fine of $500.

Giving the case to the jury, Justice Seabury explained the law defining bribery. He charged the jury that if a bribe had been offered Anhut should be punish. He left the jury to decide the question whether Anhut offered the bribe or Dr. Russell solicited it.

Justice Seabury said that while Thaw had been adjudged insane the fact need not influence the jury's consideration of his testimony, because an insane man might give as good testimony as anyone, so long as it did not touch on his own peculiar delusion.

MANY DIE IN BLASTS

SCORES INJURED AND MANY FLEE MINING DISTRICTS.

Anxiety Is Caused Among Workers of Three States by Explosions Which Began a Week Ago.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 17.—Much anxiety is being caused in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland by numerous explosions of dynamite and powder coupled with attempts to blow up heavily filled magazines and a searching investigation into the matter seems warranted.

A dozen persons have been killed, scores have been injured, some fatally; much property has been ruined and hundreds of people have been so frightened that they have left the vicinity.

Beginning Saturday, May 10, when 500 sticks of dynamite exploded in the magazine of the Sunshine Coal and Coke companys' mine near Masontown, Pa., resulting in the death of four and injury of twoscore, and ending Wednesday with the explosion of 1,700 pounds of dynamite and seventy kegs of powder stored in the magazine of the Consolidated Coal company at Eckhart, Md.

Last Monday an attempt was made to blow up a passenger train at Leckrone, Pa. A track-walker found nine sticks of dynamite under the joints of the rails of the Monongahela railroad. Within seventy-five yards of the railroad was located the plant of the Cameron Powder company, containing 20,000 pounds of powder and 500 pounds of dynamite.

In a premature explosion of dynamite at Parkersburg Tuesday, five men were blown into a stream.

MEXICO CITY WAS DRY

AUTHORITIES CLOSED ALL SALOONS AND PULQUE SHOPS.

Alarming Rumors Which Tend to Inflame Feelings Against Americans in Mexico Cause Action.

Mexico City, May 19.—As a result of an order by the authorities closing all saloons and pulque shops and calling off all public gatherings from Saturday night until this morning, the capital had one of the quietest Sundays experienced in months.

The government's action was prompted by the great number of alarming rumors that have been in circulation for the past two or three days. The most persistent of these reports was to the effect that Ambassador Wilson had asked for his credential, and another was that a detachment of American troops had landed at Vera Cruz and that an invasion of the country by an American army was taking shape.

These stories, which were at once discredited by the better element, caused a great deal of alarm. It is generally conceded, however, that they were put out to inflame the Mexicans against Americans in Mexico.

"All Americans wishing free transportation home send name and address to Dr. William M. Willey, Isabel La Catolica 69."

This advertisement in the Mexican Herald brought responses from several hundred Americans now in the capital.

TARIFF HEARINGS ARE DENIED

Senate Defeats Motion to Permit Public to Express Their Views on Underwood Bill.

Washington, May 19.—The Penrose-La Follette motion instructing the senate finance committee to hold public hearings on the Underwood tariff bill was lost by a vote of 41 to 36. Two Democrats, Senators Ransdell and Thornton of Louisiana, voted with the Republicans, while Senator Poindexter of Washington registered his ballot with the Democrats.

This motion has held up consideration of the Underwood bill for more than a week and its defeat came up as a climax to an exciting debate during which Senators La Follette, Smoot, Gallinger, Jones and Clark of Wyoming flayed the Democrats for ordering secret conferences on the bill. Senators Simmons, Smith of Georgia, Walsh and James, Democrats, upheld the action of their party.

JAP REPLY READY

ANSWER TO PROTEST AGAINST ALIEN LAND LAWS APPROVED BY CABINET.

BOTH DOCUMENTS A SECRET

Their Publication in Both Countries Simultaneously Is Being Arranged for, Following Gov. Johnson's Signing Bill Which Caused Imbroglio.

Washington, May 19.—With the expectation that he federal government will defend the Californians against the Japanese protests against the anti-alien legislation adopted by the Pacific state's legislature and with the American reply to that complaint ready for transmission to the Japanese embassy here, the seriousness of the situation will now largely depend the reception which will be accorded the answer by the Japanese public as well as to the protest which called it forth.

Neither of these documents is ready for publication, though arrangements are already under way for their simultaneous publication here and in Japan. The reply of the United States has been prepared, and was discussed at length Friday at the cabinet meeting.

Neither the president nor Secretary of State Bryan will discuss either the terms of the protest or the reply, or the probable time at which the latter will be transmitted to Ambassador Chinda. It is believed, however, that the reply will not be sent until Governor Johnson has actually affixed his signature to the bill which has caused all the trouble.

Just how serious the situation is, no one in authority here will discuss. But the mystery which has enveloped the present state of the negotiations has given rise to a general feeling of apprehension, as well as to all reports of speculations concerning the attitude of the two governments.

Secretary Bryan feels that the situation is exceedingly delicate, and seems to fear that agitation, both here and in Japan, that have nothing to do with the subject, may make a lot more trouble at any time.

JOHNSON MAY FIGHT AGAIN

Manager of Luther McCarthy Seeks Match With Convicted Negro Pugilist.

Chicago, May 17.—If Federal Judge Carpenter, in whose court Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, was convicted of violating the white slave law, will consent, Johnson and Luther McCarty, white heavyweight champion of the world, will meet. Arrangements for the match were agreed to by Billy McCarney, manager of the white champ, and Johnson.

Johnson said that his statement of a few days ago that he was "broke" was absolutely true. He said he needed money now worse than he had ever needed it. When asked if he would meet Luther McCarty, he showed his gold teeth, and said he would be glad of the chance to share the gate receipts of a championship battle.

"The only thing that stands in the way," said Johnson, "is the consent of Judge Carpenter."

BLAKAN WAR BEGAN IN 1663

Conflict of Races Started Long Ago, Seems Destined Now to Be Fought to a Fnish.

An Italian newspaper reminds us usefully that the Balkan war began centuries ago. In the state archives at Vienna is the declaration of war sent by Sultan Mehemet IV. to Emperor Leopold in 1682. "Be it known to you, the heir of the Caesars, to the king of Poland, and to your allies and omnipotent emperor of the east and west, . . . is on the point of invading your paltry territories. We shall bring 1,300,000 soldiers, on horse and foot, to crush you utterly and lay waste all your domains. We command you to await our coming in our residence in Vienna, where it is our intention to have you beheaded."

But the war was even then an old story. The delightful writer who contributes "The Office Window" to the London Daily Chronicle tells us that while searching through some of the earliest newspapers printed his eye was continually diverted to news letters from the continent giving accounts of the unholy war which Turkey was waging on Hungary and Austria. Almost at random he copies the following from the Newes of Stetember 17, 1633, a grim reminder that the Turk has remained unchanged and unchangeable for these 250 years at least:

"Vienna, Sept. 6.—In Austria every Fifth Man is to bear Armes; and they hope to raise 20,000 Men upon that Levy to secure the Frontiers. At this instant comes fresh Intelligence of 10,000 Turks, and as many Tartars, passing the Waegh, and that they carry all before them with Fire and Sword."

And again: "We hear that upon the third instant the Enemy has beaten our Foot by the River Waegh, and Possess'd himself of the narrow Passages between the Hills, where he has burnt divers Towns and Villages, and Massacred many Thousands of People, striking off the heads of some, putting other in Chains . . . and cutting to pieces Young and Old without Distinction or Mercy."

Unsympathetic.

A man lost his life in a great flood. He was dead, but in the spirit world he lived over and over again the appalling scenes and incidents through which he had just passed. It seemed to him that he must talk it over with some one.

He therefore approached an elderly man and told him the story of how he died, giving a vivid word picture and making a lurid tale. To his great surprise, the old man showed little interest; in fact, he appeared to be bored. At last, being rather annoyed at such indifference, he asked the reason.

"Don't you know who I am?" asked the other.

"Why, no, I don't," was the answer. "I've only just arrived."

"Well," said the other, "I'm Noah."

Generous Reformer.

Miss Augusta De Peyster is a charming young lady of Knickerbocker descent who does noble missionary work among New York's floating sailor population.

Miss de Peyster's work is unique in that she believes in helping the sailor, no matter how prodigal or dissipated or nonconforming he may be. She also believes in a very generous, very liberal type of charity.

Ofter her views are expressed in epigram, as:

"Don't scold a reprobate, for men are like eggs—left in hot water they harden."

Or again:

"As long as virtue is its own reward, it is apt to be spasmodic."

HER "BEST FRIEND"
A Woman Thus Speaks of Postum.

We usually consider our best friends those who treat us best.

Some persons think coffee a real friend, but watch it carefully awhile and observe that it is one of the meanest of all enemies, for it stabs one while professing friendship.

Coffee contains a poisonous drug—caffeine—which injures the delicate nervous system and frequently sets up disease in one or more organs of the body, if its use is persisted in.

"I had heart palpitation and nervousness for four years and the doctor told me the trouble was caused by coffee. He advised me to leave it off, but I thought I could not," writes a Wis. lady.

"On the advice of a friend I tried Postum and it so satisfied me I did not care for coffee after a few days' trial of Postum.

"As weeks went by and I continued to use Postum my weight increased from 98 to 118 pounds, and the heart trouble left me. I have used it a year now and am stronger than I ever was. I can hustle up stairs without any heart palpitation, and I am free from nervousness.

"My children are very fond of Postum and it agrees with them. My sister liked it when she drank it at my house; now she has Postum at home and has become very fond of it. You may use my name if you wish, as I am not ashamed of praising my best friend—Postum." Name given by Pustum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum now comes in new concentrated form called Instant Postum. It is regular Postum, so processed at the factory that only the soluble portions are retained.

A spoonful of Instant Postum with hot water, and sugar and cream to taste, produce instantly a delicious beverage.

Write for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

"There's a Reason" for Postum.—

Bent on Getting Money.

"What excuse did the arrested cashier give for being crooked?" "He claimed he was in straitened circumstances."

Not Unreasonable.

"Boy wanted for sausages," runs an announcement in a butcher's shop at Harlesden. It sounds unappetizing—yet no doubt a boy is the proper accompaniment for the mashed.—London Opinion.

Watch in the Safety Vault.

A strong box, containing family records and heirlooms was opened a few days ago to examine an old manuscript, relates the New York Tribune. The box had not been disturbed for several years, and the women, who had taken it into a private room, were surprised when they removed an old-fashioned open-face watch from its resting place to hear it tick loudly. This to them was evidence that the box had been tampered with. But everything was found intact and in keeping with the memorandum of contents, and they were much perplexed because of the ticking watch, which ceased its activity before the box was returned to its place. A watchmaker who was consulted said that such "momentary life" in "dead" timepieces when disturbed was not unusual.

Snubbed.

Several medical men and a newspaper man were visiting an insane asylum. The employe who was showing them about pointed out a man who considered himself the Lord.

The newspaper man, true to his instincts, seeking to have an interview, asked the insane one whether he really made the earth in seven days.

The latter gave him a look of utter contempt, and said as he passed on: "I'm not in the mood to talk shop!"

E. church Sunday evening, June 1st. Admission free.

The pastor received a letter from our old pastor and friend Rev. Aikin, that he would be here to preach on the Sunday the pipe organ is dedicated on July 6th, in the evening. Everybody in Antioch and vicinity will be glad to see and hear Brother Aikin again, under whose splendid leadership our beautiful little church was built and paid for.

Don't forget the date of the Pipe Organ Recital, July 5th. Program will be printed next week.

The Treasurer has been instructed to pay the morgage on the parsonage of $300 and interest at once. Glory!

We still need about $75 to pay all of our indebtedness, if you have not yet had an opportunity to help out on the pipe organ why not give us a "lift" on this debt and help us entirely out of the hole. See me.

Yours truly,
A. O. Stixrud,

To Prevent Pounding Your Finger.

When a tack has to be driven in an inconvenient corner, force the tack through the end of a strip of paper and hold the paper instead of attempting to hold the tack. This will save the finger and thumb from the hammer and the recording angel from making an entry on the wrong side of your page.

French Society Improving.

The latest fad in Paris, it is said, is to play cards in the boxes during a grand opera performance. This is not half so annoying as the habit some persons have of whistling or singing grand opera or other airs during a game of cards.

Has Method for Coloring Copper.

A method for coloring copper blue, red and iridescent hues by suspending it in a copper acetate solution and passing an electric current through the latter has been perfected by a Cornell university professor.

Must Be a Joke.

A correspondent informs us that he read on a down-town menu: "Prices subject to advance during interval of giving order and being served."

Fertilize the Language.

Surely there must be something the matter with the vocabulary of our young people when they have to depend so exclusively upon such words as "Sure!" "Dandy!" and "Wonderful!" to express their principal emotions. What is most extraordinary about all this is that the vocabulary of young women does not seem to be improved by a college career. One would think that it would be quite impossible to study Latin and French and German, literature and philosophy for a number of years (even though studied in the most superficial manner) without acquiring enough variety of words to carry one through any common experience. The method of studying English in our schools is entirely wrong. There should be classes in adjectives.—Life.

Take Care of the First Teeth.

If you have the health and beauty of your child at heart, pay particular attention to the teeth. Decayed and aching teeth worry the child, making it nervous and disagreeable. The germs harbored in decayed teeth are responsible for many diseases. Have the first teeth well taken care of to insure a healthy, regular second set.

More Than Kind.

"In my young days, says Mr. A. J. Swinburne in "Memories of a School Inspector," "a rural schoolmistress entirely misinterpreted my kindness, which was prompted by a desire to quiet her nervousness.

"I asked her in as pleasant a voice as I could summon if she could have the children recite on the 'Reindeer.'

"She replied, simpering, 'I have a lesson on clouds and one on mist, but I'm sorry I have none on rain."

Slur on Philadelphia.

"A Philadelphia scientist on his way to the Hawaiian islands spent three months studying the habits, evolution and variations of tree snails." We do not believe that a Philadelphian can complete the job in three months, but it must be admitted that he will obtain some valuable hints on speed.—Boston Transcript.

FELT HIS FAITH MISPLACED

Colored Man Had Lost Confidence in Fortune Tellers, Not Altogether Without Reason.

"I ain't got de confidence in dese yuh fawchin-tellers dat I once had, sah," a bit pessimistically remarked Brother Stimmerjohn. "Tudder day I goes into de side show, full o' faith, and comes out turrectly plumb empty. De mind reader—white lady, she was—was standin' up dar on a tall wooden pedestrian, wid a han'ketcher tied over her eyes, and a white man was auctionin' 'round th'oo de crowd, uh-touchin' dis and uh-grabbin' dat, and de lady would holler out every time dess what 'twuz. In a minute de white man took up-holt o' muh fob and drug muh new watch out'n muh pocket.

"'What's dis?' he axed de lady.

"'A gold watch!' she retaliated right back, smack as yo' please.

"'Whuh's it gone to?' I hollered, de next minute.

"Yo' see, when de gen'leman drug fo'th muh watch a bunch o' white men with thick red necks on 'em shoved forrard to see de watch, and de fust thing I knowed I was up-hollerin' whuh was it at, and dey was trompin' all over muh feet and nudgin' and rammin' twell in a minute mo' I was plumb outside de tent wid no mo watch dan a rabbit.

"Nussah—I isn't got no confidence in dem dar fawchin tellers and mind readers no mo'! If de lady could-uh read muh mind she'd uh-knowed dat I got dat watch fum a mail-awdah sto' fer two dollahs and a half, and de blame thing wouldn't keep no mo' time dan a brick!"

Legal Opinion.

"A cat sits on my back fence every night and he yowls and yowls and yowls. Now, I don't want to have any trouble with neighbor Jones, but this thing has gone far enough, and I want you to tell me what to do."

The young lawyer looked as solemn as an old sick owl, and said not a word.

"I have a right to shoot the cat, haven't I?"

"I would hardly say that," replied young Coke Blackstone. "The cat does not belong to you, as I understand it."

"No, but the fence does."

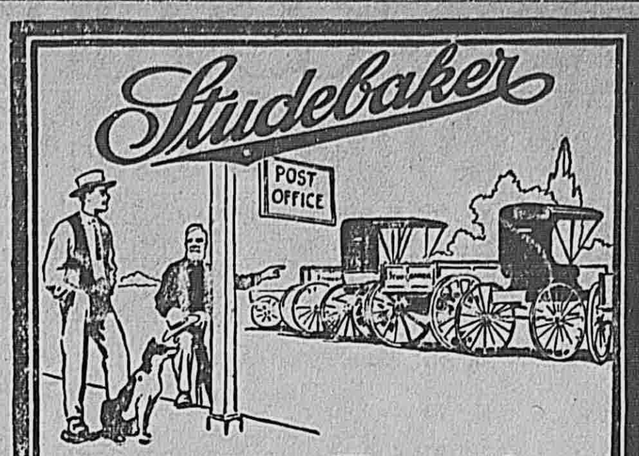

"Then," concluded the light of law, "I think it safe to say you have a perfect right to tear down the fence."

Every year over one hundred thousand Studebaker vehicles are sold.

This tells you what the farmers of the country think of the Studebaker wagons.

This appreciation has been constantly growing for sixty years.

This appreciation has been earned by the determination of Studebaker to produce an honestly built wagon that will do a full day's work and keep on doing it, and not to build a cheap one.

Discouraged Fireflies.

During a pause of a brilliant display of fireworks on of the circle of friends commented upon the conspicuous absence of the innumerable fireflies that had been noticed several evenings previously. NEWS and GOSSIP of WASHINGTON

Apollo Is Dead Again; Overzeal Was the Cause

WASHINGTON.—Apollo is dead again. And buried. His funeral obsequies were in classic keeping with his standing as the handsomest god in the mythological output—though, incidentally, it was his standing that caused his downfall—and he now lies under the campus grass of a gray stone college out Brooklyn way, with spring blossoms on his grave.

A tragedy, filtered through hearsay channels, is apt to be diluted in its facts, and watered as to poignant details, but even the weakened flavor of the incident is worthy a sip, because Apollo is always interesting—to say nothing of pretty girls.

The students gave a Latin play at the college a little while ago, and a statue of Apollo, on a pedestal, gleamed white and classic in one corner of the dramatic atmosphere. Apparently, he was as safe from harm as his original in the belvedere of the Vatican museum, but you never can tell! Most anything is liable to happen in the danger zone of an amateur play.

The tragedy, according to the hearsay version, was caused by a student-player whose overzeal to voice her share of dead language with a full allowance of histronic emphasis led her to butt into Apollo's pedestal. And anybody who has ever owned a statue on a pedestal can guess the rest.

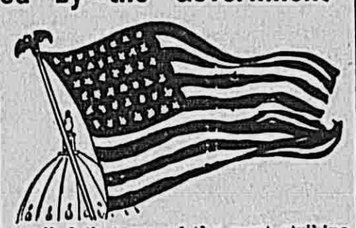

After the play the students decided that having "killed" Apollo they should bury him in state. So they made themselves into a procession of white-robed mourners. They chanted a dirge. And they carried garlands of woody blossoms. And after the handsomest of the 12 great gods had been interred with rust-right ceremonies under the campus grass the white-robed ones scattered flowers over him and chanted some more.

When the rites were ended and the mourners had got back to their schoolgirl selves they chipped in with their pocket allowance to pay for the statue they had broken. And that's all there was to it, except that—

If Apollo could have had a say in the matter he would doubtless observe that he would rather be under the college campus with flocks of innocently joyous schoolgirls to scatter flowers over his smashed bits than to stand, a perfect whole, in the spotlight of the Vatican's belvidere.

Anybody would.

Worn-Out Flags Destroyed by the Government

WORN-OUT national flags used by the United States government in the army and navy, on public buildings, etc., never become mere pieces of waste rags. The government sets an example for the whole country by requiring that worn-out flags shall be burned. Whether or not any special regulation covers the disposition of old flags, the universal practice of the army and navy whenever a flag is no longer fit for service is that it shall be destroyed.

When a flag used at an army post or on a naval vessel is no longer serviceable, requisition of the quartermaster is made for a new one and the old one is burned. The same disposition is made of flags from public buildings. Whether or not custodians of buildings outside of Washington follow the official plan of destroying flags is not known.

Flags borne in battle are invariably preserved, either by the commands which carried them, or, under instructions by the war department, by the government at Washington. A whole roomful of battle flags is on exhibition at the war department, and it will be recalled that one of the most striking of the mural paintings which decorate the statehouse at Boston depicts the return of the battle flags by the Union soldiers in 1865 to Gov. John A. Andrew.

The flag-making plant of the navy is at the Brooklyn navy yard, where some 30 women are employed. The bunting comes from Massachusetts, and every case costs the government $560, or $11.25 a roll. Every piece must weight five pounds to every 40 yards and stand a weight test of 70 pounds to two square inches. It is steeped in salt water for six hours and then exposed to the sun for another six hours. If strength and color hold the fabric is then pronounced fit for service.

Two "Bill" Murrays, Each With the "Hon." Prefix

THERE are two William Murrays in the house of Representatives, and each one is known among familiars as "Bill" Murray.

One is "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, and the other is "Boston Bill" Murray from the Hub. Each one is famous.

Now, the mail at the house of representatives post office these days is cluttered and jammed with letters from constituents, protesting, clamoring, arguing about some feature of the tariff. The postal clerks had a hard time getting the letters for the two Murrays separated, and Alfalfa Bill was getting a lot of Boston Bill's mail, and vice versa.

Finally the postmaster hit upon the plan of sending all mail postmarked from Oklahoma to Alfalfa Bill Murray, and all Massachusetts mail to Boston Bill Murray, and to take a chance on any scattering stuff.

The other day a letter arrived addressed to "Hon. William Murray," and it bore a postmark from a town in Oklahoma. It was sent to Alfalfa Bill, and when he opened it he saw it was meant for his Boston friend. It happened to be written by a former Bostonese who had moved to Oklahoma.

Alfalfa Bill sent the letter to Boston Bill in one of his new envelopes, marked for Mr. Murray of Massachusetts, but simply because the letter bore Alfalfa Bill's frank, back it came to the Oklahoma Muray.

Then Alfalfa Bill went personally to his Boston namesake.

"Look here," he said, "my name is William H. and yours is William F. Why not inform our constituents of the difficulty and get these things straight?"

"No," said Boston Bill, "I have a better plan. I'll take credit for all the good things you do and blame you for all the bad things I do."

How Townsend Interviewed Wm. K. Vanderbilt

REPRESENTATIVE TOWNSEND of Michigan, author of "Chimmie Fadden," served his apprenticeship on a New York newspaper. Mr. Townsend says that it was hearing a newsie say, "Aw, wat t'ell," that gave him the inspiration for "Chimmie Fadden."

With much relish the New York congressman told a group of newspaper men at the Press club about his first assignment.

"The city editor called me and told me to go to William K. Vanderbilt's house and get an interview. With a gulp in my throat I listened as he rasped out the questions I was to ask the New York millionaire.

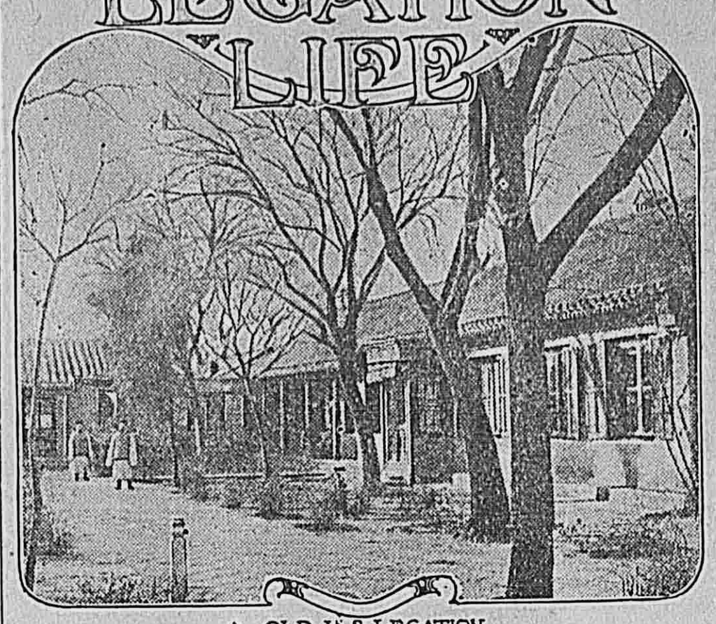

"Somehow or other I finally found myself at the door of the Vanderbilt mansion, and in a cold perspiration rang the bell. A tall, dignified man, with great English sidewhiskers opened the door.

"'Good evening,' Mr. Vanderbilt,' I began. 'I came up from the newspaper office to ask you what you would do in case we declared war with Canada,' and I continued with the questions which the city editor had hurled at me.

"Looking me straight in the eye, which only added to my discomfiture, the man waited until I had somehow or other faltered through. Then he said, frigidly:

"'Mr. Vanderbilt is hout. Hi'm the butler. Good night!"

PEKIN LEGATION LIFE

OLD U.S. LEGATION

IN THE heart of Peking, close to the gates of the imperial palace, the legation quarter stretches along the huge wall of the inner or Tartar city and covers an area a mile long by a half a mile wide. Before the Boxer uprising of 1900 there was no legation quarter distinct and separate from the rest of the city. The legations were then scattered in and about Chinese shops and houses in that part of the city now definitely set apart for the residences of foreign envoys.

After the siege of the legations by the boxers the foreign powers decided that it was necessary to fortify the legations and to maintain permanent guards for their protection. The Chinese buildings in the area set apart for the legations were demolished and the grounds of the respective legations were enlarged. A high fortified wall was built on three sides of the legation quarter, while on the fourth the wall of the Tartar city was occupied by soldiers of the American and German legation guards.

Defended by Moat and Glacis.

In order to render the corner more defensible a deep moat was dug outside the fortified wall and outside of this a large space was cleared of houses. This open space, which surrounds the quarter on three sides, is called the glacis and is used as a drill ground by the troops of the various legation guards. Viewed from the wall of the Tartar city the legation quarter with its palatial buildings, all erected in western style, presents a striking contrast to the rest of Peking, with its curved roofs, pylos and pagodas.

Eleven of the fourteen nations represented in Peking have their legations located inside of the legation quarter. Each legation has a spacious compound in which there is a group of large, modern buildings. Besides the residences of the minister, each legation has houses for the legation secretaries, interpreters and clerks. Attached to each legation, excepting the Spanish, there the barracks for the soldiers of the legation guard and houses for their officers. Besides the legation the quarter also contains the offices of the Chinese customs service, which is managed by foreigners, seven foreign banks, representing the financial interests of European and American capitalists doing business in China, several commercial establishments, and a large European hotel.

There are few communities in the world more cosmopolitan than the legation quarter of Peking. In the course of an hour one may hear most of the languages of Europe and Asia spoken. There is, however, no confusion of tongues, as everybody speaks English, which is the "Lengua Franca" of the far east. One is impressed by the international character of the place more by the uniforms of the military than by anything else. Simply by walking down Legation street and observing the sentries at the various legation gates one may see the uniforms of the world's greatest armies.

By taking a promenade around the glacis one may observe the military tactics of many nations. Near the front gate of the imperial palace one sees a company of Uncle Sam's soldiers of the marine corps drilling; across the street on the Russian glacis there are cossacks performing wonderful feats of horsemanship; further up toward the pink wall of the imperial cit some of King George's royal fusiliers are engaged in signal practice. to the north of the legation wall the Japanese, Italians and Austrians are drilling furiously; on the east glacis the celebrated French Infanterie Colleoniale are performing evolutions, while to the south, near the Tartar wall, the Germans are maneuvering huge field guns.

Social Forms English.

In Peking, as in the far east generally, the social customs are dictated by the English. This accounts for the formality which characterizes most of the social functions in the legations. The custom of dressing for dinner is very generally observed. During the social season there are balls and dinners in the legations almost every night. At these functions great care is exercised to seat people according to their rank and dignity. In order to facilitate this rather ticklish task a book is issued by the diplomatic corps giving the rank and station of every official, foreign and Chinese, in Peking. In case of officials having the same rank the one who has stayed longest in Peking takes precedence. Every woman receives callers and serves tea on a certain day of each week. Most of these teas are delightfully informal, but many have a stiffness which makes them a social duty rather than a pleasure.

The legation balls in Peking are brilliant affairs, sugesting the splendor of European courts. The bright uniforms of the military officers and the Parisians gowns of the women give color and elegance to the scene. The ministers and secretaries do not wear their diplomatic uniforms at legation functions, but there is usually a great display of royal decorations. The military orchestra, half hidden behind palms and ferns, besides rendering the necessary music, also furnishes its quota of color, especially if it is composed of British redcoats. Under the Manchu regime the color scheme of the legation functions was further enhanced by the embroidered silk gowns of the Manchu princes and the Chinese mandarins.

For recreation, however, one does not have to depend on the formal functions of society. Almost everybody keeps horses and there are frequent excursions into the country to temples and places of historic interest. On such excursions formality is banished and hilarity reigns supreme. Then there is the Peking club, where all the men gather from seven to eight in the evening. In the winter there is a skating rink at the club, which is, of course, open to the women. This is the scene of many band concerts and carnivals.

In the summer the tennis courts at the club become the centers of interest for Peking society. Outside the city walls the club maintains a racetrack, where the spring and autumn races are held. The racecourse is also the scene of the spring and autumn gymkanas, which are burlesqued athletic meets. At the gymkanas the principal events are the camel races and the donkey polo games.

Bullets to Set Balloons on Fire.

Tests have been made in Germany with a special projectile which is intended to repel dirigibles and which is designed not only to pierce a gas envelope, but also to set fire to the gas. This projectile, fired from the old German rifle known as "model 71," which has a caliber of 11 millimeters, is provided with little wings that open in flight under the influence of a spring, compressed while the projectile is still in the rifle barrel, but expanded as soon as the muzzle is passed.

An ordinary bullet leaves such a small hole in an envelope that the gas escapes through it but slowly. The wings on the improved bullet tear a hole of appreciable size in the fabric. What is more, they retard the bullet sufficiently to ignite fulminate contained in the bullet. It is said that experiments conducted at Neumannswald gave encouraging results.—Scientific American.

He Couldn't See the Joke.

Rudolph Hauser stirred things up in central police station by kicking about a case of sample shoes he admitted he had stolen from in front of a Fifth avenue store. Hauser was so mad he was unable to talk coherently, but managed to explain that all the shoes were for the left foot.

"Something crooked here," he spluttered. "That man ought to serve time."

Hauser had carried the case, containing forty shoes, a mile to his home. When he opened the case later and discovered that only a one-legged man could use the contents, he rushed to police headquarters. He was arrested. —Pittsburgh Dispatch to the Philadelphia Record.

Prepared.

"I guess that young man is going to ask me for Maggie's hand tonight."

"What makes you think so?"

"He's wearing a sweater and an old pair of trousers."

"But I don't see—"

"It won't hurt his clothes if he is rolled down the front steps."

WHILE THERE WAS YET TIME

Mean Man Made His Suggestion and Departed In Some Haste From Meeting of Indignant Women.

With tense, eager faces, the great audience of women leaned forward in their seats, eagerly drinking in the noted speaker's every word.

"Mere man," she was saying, "is wont to belittle woman's ability to enter the fields already usurped by him. As a matter of fact, she is capable of filling any post of public or private office now held by him, and, if appointed to it, could even perform man's tasks with greater faithfulness and greater daring.

"Name, if you can, one post for which she cannot fit herself! Name one office to which she would not, could not, give the greatest measure of capability, the highest-degree of courage, the —"

A mere man, who had slipped unnoticed into a back seat, rose at this point, and the light of sudden inspiration gleamed in his eye.

"Rat catcher!" he shouted. And then he fled.

RASH SPREAD TO ARMS

759 Roach Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.—"At first I noticed small eruptions on my face. The trouble began as a rash. It looked like red pimples. In a few days they spread to my arms and back. They itched and burned so badly that I scratched them and of course the result was blood and matter. The eruptions festered, broke, opened and dried up, leaving the skin dry and scaly. I spent many sleepless nights, my back, arms and face burning and itching; sleep was purely and simply out of the question. The trouble also caused disfigurement. My clothing irritated the breaking out.

"By this time I had used several well-known remedies without success. The trouble continued. Then I began to use the sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Within seven or eight days I noticed gratifying results. I purchased a full-sized cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and in about eighteen or twenty days my cure was complete." Hunts Hares With Auto.

Only Make Believe.

A visitor at the home of a famous author was greeted by a little daughter of the latter. Engaging the little girl in conversation, the visitor observed:

"Aren't you proud to think your papa is famous?"

The little girl nodded.

"He writes stories, doesn't he?"

Lowering her voice, the child replied:

"They're not real stories; he just makes them up himself."

How to Acquire More Self Control.

To acquire more self control and confidence perhaps the best step is to make yourself face disagreeable tasks with courage.

Do not be easily roused when you have determined on a course of action.

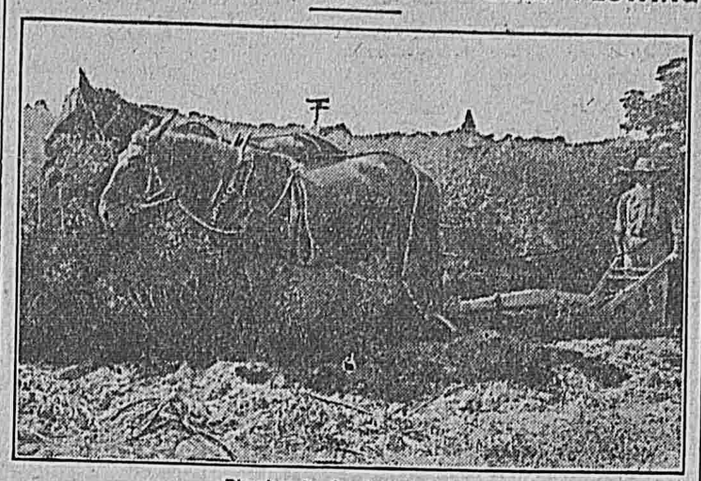

Perhaps the most disagreeable thing one meets in the course of a business day is the occasion for tactful yielding what one desires to say, to be agreeable to people who do not appeal to us, to give a pleasant answer when we are more inclined to give a curt one—in brief, to act according to the dictates of conscience on any and every occasion.

Electricity and Plant Life.

The theory has been advanced and backed up by experiments which are at least interesting, that pointed leaves standing up at the top of growing plants attract electricity from the atmosphere and that such electric forces aid materially in the growth of plants so equipped by nature. One investigator, R. E. Dimick of Almena, Wis., reports that vegetables which were well cultivated have shown a taller growth than the normal when they had pointed wires stuck up among them to act like lightning rods in drawing off the electricity which Mr. Dimick believes to be attracted by points and needful to plant life.

University of Illinois.

The following inquiry is made by a citizen of Illinois:

"Would it pay to sow sweet clover with oats in the spring to plow under in the fall as fertilizer? Common clover is becoming so hard to start, it seems we must find a substitute, as we do not have enough manure to cover the stubble ground.

We are thinking of trying a deep tilling machine. Have there been any experiments on the lasting effect of deep tillage? It would seem to me that while the immediate effect may be an increase of crops, to plow the ground 10 to 12 inches deep for a number of years would cause the soil to lose fertility faster than with shallow plowing."

This correspondent has raised two questions of the highest significance, because of their bearing upon the fundamental problems of the maintenance of soil fertility. They remind us of the truth that even up to the present time American agriculture consists very largely in working the land for all that's in it, and when one crop begins to fail then the American farmer tries to find another crop that can still be made to grow, or he adopts a more exhaustive system of tillage, thereby extracting from the soil more fertility than would otherwise be possible. Even where the use of commercial fertilizers has become common, the usual practice is to supply less plant food in the fertilizer than is removed in the crops grown, the specific purpose being still to take from the natural supply in the soil as large an amount of plant food as possible and only supplementing this with the result, of course, that the soil is poorer after the crop is removed than before the fertilizer was applied.

Yes, sweet clover can be used as a substitute for red clover. Care should be taken, however, to thoroughly inoculate the land by applying half a wagon load to the acre of infected sweet clover soil taken from some patch of sweet clover, which can usually be found along the highway within easy hauling distance. It would be best, also, to seed an early variety of oats at the rate of not more than one and one-half or two bushels per acre, preferably in drills.

I know of no investigations that have been carried on for sufficient length of time to justify drawing definite conclusions concerning the uses of the deep tilling machine. Some experiments have shown very appreciable increases in crop yields for one or two years following the deep tillage, while other experiments indicate damage rather than benefit. It would seem wise for farmres and land owners to await the results of carefully conducted, trustworthy investigations by their state experiment stations before plunging into the practice of deep tillage, which at best is merely another method of producing larger crops by impoverishing the soil more rapidly.

The cost of deep tillage has been found to be about three times the cost of ordinary plowing, so that where plowing costs $1.00 per acre, the extra expense of deep tillage would be $2.00 per acre, not counting the cost of the machine itself. Where it costs $1.50 to plow the ground it would cost $4.50 per acre to practice deep tillage, or an extra expense of $3.00 per acre.

But $3.00 per acre would almost pay for half a ton of fine-ground rock phosphate, which would positively enrich the soil in phosphorus by supplementing more of that element than would be taken but by all the crops grown during the next four years. Again, $3.00 per acre would pay for two tons of ground limestone delivered at almost any railroad station in Illinois, and such an application would supply more limestone than would be removed, both by cropping and leaching, during the following four years.

If red clover is failing because of increased deficiency of limestone or phosphorus, or both, which is the case on most of the older lands of Illinois, then why not meet the difficulty by putting back into the soil what it needs, rather than to increase the difficulty by substituting some other crop that may possibly endure for a few more years, or by practicing some method of excessive tillage in order to still further impoverish the land?

Soil Report No. 2 recently published by the Illinois experiment station, contains the actual results from ten years of carefully conducted experiments on the common corn belt soil of Illinois, which show that the soil can be made richer and richer by the addition of the materials in which it is becoming positively deficient. Soil Report No. 1 contains similar information from long continued investigations conducted on the common land of the great wheat belt in southern Illinois. Circulars 110, 149 and 157 give much additional information along these lines, including some results from practical farmers, who have applied the methods on a large scale. These soil reports and circulars will be sent to anyone free of charge upon request to the agriculture experiment station, Urbana, Ill.

While about 40,000 Illinois farmers are availing themselves of this privilege and while thousands of them are already adopting practical systems of permanent soil improvement, there are probably 200,000 farmers in the state who are as yet making no use whatever of this most fundamental information. In the main they are still content to work the land for all that's in it, the same as was done for many years by the vast majority of farmers in our older eastern states, which ultimately resulted in such complete land ruin that millions of acres of once fertile farm lands are now agriculturally abandoned in those states.

FRUIT GROWING ON THE FARM

By A. W. NOLAN,
University of Illinois.

Every man who owns a home in the country owes it to his family to have an orchard. Fruit is a popular and healthful food, and every farm should provide it, both for the summer table and the winter cellar.

"The farm without its fruit orchard is like pancakes without maple syrup"—possible but not enjoyable." The farm orchard should supply the family and friends with the cheapest and most enjoyable fruit the year through—as well as many dainty dishes the housewife knows so well how to prepare.

The farm orchard, besides providing wholesome food for the family, adds to the landscape beauty of the home grounds. The blossoming of the orchard in springtime, the rich green foliage of the summer, the ripened fruit of autumn and the snow-covered branches of winter give to the old farmstead a perennial beauty which every country-bred boy and girl will learn to appreciate. In addition to furnishing these delights, the home orchard, unless the markets be overstocked, may be a source of profit as well.

Although Illinois is not ranked among the great fruit states of the country, yet for the sake of the farm home and its food supply, fruit growing should not be neglected. The old orchards which the first settlers planted, still showing strong vitality and dropping in occasional years an abundant yield of fruit in spite of careless neglect, and the great commercial orchards successfuly managed in the southern part of the state, show that Illinois is not altogether out of the class of commercial fruit growing states.

It is not our purpose, however, to advise or teach commercial fruit growing. We are justified in calling attention to the farm home orchard and in teaching every boy and girl in the country schools of Illinois how to select, set out, and care for an orchard, in order that every farm home may have its fruit supply. Unless the farm has a fruit orchard and a good garden, the country people are not likely to be well fed, and the boys and girls growing up on a farm without its orchards and gardens are sure to grow discontented with the dull monotony of the food, work and scenery of the old home, and leave it all, to their own and to the farm's misfortune.

Handling Doubtful Seed.

In case it should be found necessary to use seed corn of a rather low germinating power far better results will be secured if the seed bed is put in extra good tilth and if the planting of the corn is put over until the ground is thoroughly warm. Such seed will need the most favorable conditions, and these should be provided so far as possible.

Succession of Vegetables.

Be sure to plant a succession of all the vegetables best liked by the family, as well as those intended for market, thus prolonging the season when they may be enjoyed at home or sold.

1,000 SETTLERS A DAY

WESTERN CANADA MAKING REMARKABLE PROGRESS.

Settlers from the United Kingdom and other countries of Europe landed in Winnipeg last week at the rate of one thousand a day. The predicted boom in the populating of the prairie provinces this spring has materialized, as it did last year, and today the busiest city in America is probably the Manitoba metropolis.

The sturdy nations of Europe are all contributing to the rapid growth of Canada West. Two of the largest contingents reaching Winnipeg last week were from Germany and Scandinavia.

The British Isles are sending out larger contingents than ever before. The old land newspapers are filled with accounts of send-offs and farewells being given to popular townsfolk on the eve of departure for Canada.

Numerous editorials record the sentiments, bordering on despair, of the Britons who see their towns and villages desolated by the desertion of favorite sons and daughters. We can sympathize with those left behind while felicitating the young people who have their own way to make in the world, on their new opportunities in the country of mammoth crops.

Scotland lost 5,000 of her best blood and brawn in a single week this month. No wonder the young, aspiring Scots take so quickly to Canada. They have been reading of the triumphs and wonder working of Scottish pioneers in the Dominion ever since they were "bairns." A great part of Canada's success was wrought by Canadians from Caledonia, and the young Caledonians of today are eager to demonstrate that they can do as well out west as their forebears.

In addition to those from the old countries, the United States still keeps up in a strenuous manner, and is sending its thousands into that new country of the north. They take up the free homesteads of 160 acres on which they live for six months of each year for three years, and then get a deed or patent for a farm that is worth anywhere from $15 to $20 per acre, or, they may purchase lands at from $15 to $18 per acre that will yield with proper care in cultivation, excellent returns for the time, work and money expended.—Advertisement.

German Princes' Wanderjahr.

The prince of Wales might possibly enjoy his German trip still better if he could view the country in the unconventional way followed by the German crown prince and his brothers. Like all the Hohenzollerns, the kaiser's sons were taught trades, and their father also allowed them to taste the delights of the "wanderjahr," which still forms part of the education of most German artisans.

In the case of the young princes the year was split up over several successive summer holidays, which they spent tramping through Germany, knapsack on back, and sleeping at roadside inns. They traveled without a servant, accompanied only by their military governor, Col. von Falkenheyn, and were scarcely ever recognized.

After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

MRS. WILLIAMS SAYS:

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for 14 years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanitive Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.—Mrs. Sadie Williams, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.
